

School 25 Newsletter – January 2016

Right before school vacation in December School 25 was again the beneficiary of book donations.

Below are some very excited students who were able to select their very own book to take home.

On January 8th, the third grade classes went to the Rochester Museum for a field study of frogs. They have been learning about frogs all year as part of their curriculum and they had a lot of fun seeing the frogs up close and personal. There were many different exhibits, a lot of artifacts, displays and information.

PARENT'S CORNER

School 25 has 5 school goals

Each month we will feature one of these goals to familiarize you with them.

The fifth of these goals:

Improve parental involvement, engagement and participation

Last month, as you know, we had some unusual weather which enabled the boys' club members to help out in the community garden. Mr. Dardis and Mr. Szczepanski's boys club members: Adriel, Jordan, Jerell, Lavon, Jaylen, Ja'Vyon and Isai did a great job pulling weeds and putting down mulch. They even agreed to give up their gym free time to finish the garden work.

On January 13th, we had evening event at School 25. There was a lot going on, including a Scholastic Book Fair, Storytelling, a pajama party and information about the curriculum and common core for parents.

Below are some pictures of the event.
