Excellence Through Equity
Creating Schools that Serve All Children Well

Pedro Noguera

Distinguished Professor of Education, UCLA's Graduate School of Education and Information Studies

Thursday, June 1, 2017 at 6 p.m.

East High Auditorium

1801 East Main St., Rochester N.Y.

While the standards and accountability movement has largely succeeded in heightening awareness of disparities in student achievement, surprisingly little attention has been given to what it takes to create conditions in schools that will make achievement for all students more likely. In describing effective, proven principles and practices, this presentation and panel discussion will show why the path to excellence is through equity and what we can do to make it happen for a wider variety of learners in a greater number of schools.

Dr. Noguera's research focuses on the ways in which schools are influenced by social and economic conditions, as well as by demographic trends in local, regional, and global contexts.

This event is free and open to the public. A sign language interpreter and Spanish interpretation services will be provided. To learn more, email urcues@warner.rochester.edu or visit URCUES.ORG. Follow us on Twitter @URCUES.
