Dear Parent or Guardian:

As an eleventh grade student, your child may already have begun researching colleges and universities. Most four year schools require applicants to take a national admissions test – either the SAT or the ACT. Colleges use these test scores, in part, to make admissions decisions. School of the Arts is excited to offer *free SAT Prep Classes to all students in eleventh grade. This is a wonderful opportunity for your student to review and strengthen the math, reading, and writing skills necessary to score well on this important college admissions exam.

Classes will be taught by SAT instructors from Falls View Academy. Classes will meet once weekly, from 3:00 – 5:00 PM, beginning the first week of February and ending the last week of April. Each week, students will receive one-hour of math review/prep and one- hour of reading and writing review/prep. Further details are below:

What: SAT Preparation and Review Classes

When: Mondays, 3:00 – 5:00 PM                      OR                      Wednesdays, 3:00 – 5:00 PM
February 3 – April 28                                      February 5 – April 30
**Students must choose to join either the Monday or Wednesday class.*

The following expectations will apply to all students enrolled in the SAT program:

- 80% attendance during each marking period
  - Students whose attendance falls below the 80% level may be removed from the class and replaced with a student from the wait-list.
- active participation in SAT classes
- appropriate conduct during SAT classes

I strongly encourage you to register your student soon, as class sizes are very limited. Don't delay – classes begin February 3! To enroll your student in SOTA's SAT preparation program, please complete the registration form and have your student return it to their guidance counselor or to me. Please contact me with any questions regarding the SAT prep program.

Sincerely,
Nicholas Mergler
