MEET KELLIE MCNAIR

I am the Associate Director of Special Education at Wilson! I started in December so I am fairly new to the building and thrilled to be back at Wilson! This is my 25th year in education and have held multiple roles in my career including classroom teacher, math interventionist, assistant principal, and principal. My husband and I have two boys- one who just graduated college and one in high school.

My role in the school is to ensure our students in our special education classes get the supports and services they need to be successful in high school and beyond.

Advice for the new school year: Be curious about them and understand what makes them tick!

FUN FACT: enjoy traveling, yoga, and spending time with my family watching football and lacrosse!

MEET KIMBERLY BROWN

This is my 3rd year as an Assistant Principal. I also serve as an adjunct professor at St. John Fisher teaching diversity and leadership courses. Prior to becoming an AP, I was an ELA teacher, Instructional Coach and as a Community School Site Coordinator. This is my 20th year in education, although those are not consecutive years. I left the education field and worked in corporate America for a few years but found my way back to the classroom and school building.

My role in the school is to support teachers instructionally and aid students in all aspects, not just discipline. Additionally, my role is to assist with building and maintaining school culture. My office is on the 3rd floor in room 329.

ADVICE FOR THE NEW SCHOOL YEAR:

It's ok to be unconventional! Find creative ways to make learning relevant (and fun if possible) to student lives outside of school.

FUN FACT: I love and collect sneakers. You will often find me wearing a pair of Jordans. I am an avid reader who believes READING is fundamental, which is why I own 2000+ books! I am also a frequent traveler. My travel itinerary in the next few months includes Senegal, West Africa, Belize, and Cozumel. I'd love to write a book while traveling. I also love to play team sports like kickball and volleyball, but due to multiple knee and leg injuries, I've been benched.

MEET VERONICA VARGAS

This is my 17th year in education. I've taught every grade level except kindergarten and 1st grade. I also taught high school Spanish and a section of Latin. I have two children and an awesome husband. I love anything pink!

Previously, I was the community site coordinator. This year I am the School Improvement Data Coordinator. I share an office suite with Mr. Padilla in room 127.

ADVICE FOR THE NEW SCHOOL YEAR: "BY ANY MEANS NECESSARY" ~ MALCOLM X.

If you need anything I might have it and if I don't, I will find it.
