Please have a discussion with your students about being respectful listeners. See if they can identify the expectations of being effective listener in class. Some things they should consider include (1) making eye contact with the speaker; (2) being quiet – voices should be off and body movements should be kept to a minimum; (3) thinking about what the speaker is saying; (4) planning thoughtful responses/comments.

We have also been working on a wonderful reading site in class. If you have a computer at home (especially one with a microphone), be sure to visit www.raz-kids.com/login!

The username students will need is merteach367.
