

Dr. Bak's Bio ☺

Dr. Bak holds a master's degree in special education with a concentration in Emotional Behavioral Disorders (EBD) and a doctoral degree from the University at Albany in Educational Psychology and Special Education. Dr. Bak's doctoral degree specializes in the areas of Positive Behavioral Interventions and Supports (PBIS) and Response to Intervention (RtI). Dr. Bak also holds professional certifications in both Childhood Education (1-6), Students with Disabilities (1-6), and Students with Disabilities (7-12). Dr. Bak worked as a special educator teacher in a 6:1:1 classroom for students with EBD in a day treatment and residential setting prior to completing her doctoral studies. Dr. Bak currently works as an adjunct at St. John Fisher College and a consultant for the New York State PBIS Technical Assistance Center. Dr. Bak also works a mentor in the community through the Big Brother, Big Sister Program. Dr. Bak is very excited to join the East High School staff as a Special Education Teacher supporting the 9th Grade Academy!
