Description: Librarians will write a library curriculum for supporting ELA in the library based on two of the five building blocks of literacy according to scientifically-based research done by Joseph Torgeson, Louisa Moats, Sally Shaywitz, Isabelle Beck, and Timothy Rasinski. Vocabulary and fluency centers will be created that implement specific techniques and strategies that have been tried and tested to work with students in grades K - 6. Word walls and direct and indirect learning of vocabulary words by means of read a-louds will be addressed. Also direct and explicit instruction in 2nd tier vocabulary words by means of morphemic analysis, contextual analysis, and cognate awareness. Fluency will be addressed by means of direct instruction in repeated reading at the instructional level, auditory modeling, phrased-cued text, reader's theatre, independent practice, and other active reading strategies for increased independent reading.
